I am a middle-aged man that - like many contemporary Christians - doesn't fit completely into a neat little denominational box.

I've felt a connection to the LORD for all my life, and, although I'm a life-long Protestant, I'm attracted to some of the mystical elements of Catholicism.

For as long as I can remember, I've felt comfortable praying - alone or in a group.

In fact, I would even say that I ENJOY it! For several years, I've been involved in various healing prayer communities - God is very much alive, AND active.

Fairly recently, I've come to accept - and embrace - God's love for me. I believe that part of my call is to guide others so that they may see that same truth (i.e. God's love for them!).

I'm eclectic in that I like to use the names Yahweh, Yeshua, and Ruach for God, Jesus, and Holy Spirit.

Buyer beware - I'm still a work in progress.

For those of you familiar with the Emmaus community, I'm from the Table of Mark, Walk #48.
